

President Appeals To Congress For A Bigger Army & Navy

Plays Un-American Agitators In His Annual Message to Congress, and Asks For Special Laws

MORE TAXATION TO MAKE UP DEFICIT

Washington, Dec. 7. (By United Press)—Preparedness by the whole western hemisphere. A moral partnership of all Americans—a co-operation of their national aims, national policies, and national economics—this was the paramount conception of President Wilson's annual message to congress. It was primarily a preparedness message. Members of the senate and house knew it would ask enormous sums for national defense, but the President merged this gigantic project into an infinitely greater plan for Pan-Americanism. He gave a new definition of the Monroe Doctrine. It was:

"The states of America are in hostile rivalry, but co-operating friends and their growing sense of community of interests alike in matters political and in matters economical is likely to give them a new significance as factors in international affairs and in the political history of the world. It prompts them as in a very deep and true sense and unit in world affairs, spiritual partners, standing together in common thinking together, with common sympathies and common purposes. The currents of the world's progress are in spirit and purpose cannot be disappointed by their peaceful destiny. This is Pan-Americanism. It has none of the spirit of empire in it. It is the effectual embodiment of the spirit of long independence, liberty and mutual service."

Washington, Dec. 7. (Special to The Progress)—The National Defense Review, with purchases, Philippine and Porto Rican independence, the proposed laws to punish those who plot against the peace and safety of the United States, ship purchases, and a survey of our transportation facilities as a preliminary to the enactment of further legislation affecting them, are the subjects dealt with in the President's message to congress today.

Preparedness easily overshadowed all else, and the chief executive devoted the major portion of his message to the urgent need of increases in both army and navy establishments, and the organization of a reserve army of half-million. His recommendations include an increase in the army of 52 companies of coast artillery, and four aero squadrons. In addition to this the President recommends the commissioning of 750 additional officers for extra service.

The naval program to be presented to the present congress contemplates the construction within the next five years of 10 battleships, 6 battle cruisers, 10 scout cruisers, 50 destroyers, 15 fast submarines, 85 coast submarines, four gunboats, one hospital ship, two ammunition ships, two fuel ships, and one repair ship. Increase in the personnel of 11,500 men is also asked.

The nation's finance comes in for discussion under the head of preparedness, the President taking the ground that the bulk of the deficit to be met in the next two years will be caused by the army and navy programs. He recommends that the present "war" tax be retained and that additional revenue be secured by levying a per cent. tax on gasoline on asphalt, a tax of fifty cents per horse power on automobiles and internal combustion engines, a stamp tax on bank checks, a tax of twenty five cents per ton on pig iron and fifty cents per ton on fabricated iron and steel. These sources of revenue, with a lowering of the present limits of exemption on the income tax and the figure at which the surtax begins and gradually increasing the surtax itself, he expects will take care of the anticipated deficit of upwards of two hundred millions.

In urging the immediate passage of laws empowering the federal government to punish "citizens of the United States" born under our laws but welcomed under our general naturalization laws to the army and opportunity of American citizens who have poured the poison of a trade against this country which is probably more than any public utterance he ever made.

"Such creatures of passion, disloyalty and anarchy must be crushed."

MRS. S. S. RIDER GIVES INSTRUCTIVE ADDRESS MONDAY

Subject "The Duties and Privileges of the Twentieth Century Housewife"

Speaker Introduced by Mrs. G. B. Reed Club Urged to Form Housewives' League in Clearfield.

Yesterday afternoon at a special meeting of the Woman's club held in the club house on Market street, Mrs. S. S. Rider, president of the Housewives' league of Albany, and formerly of Clearfield, delivered a very practical and concise address on the Duties and Privileges of the Twentieth Century housewife, the purpose of which was to interest the women in the management of their homes economically and the method of reducing the high cost of living and also in the manner in which the food stuffs which they buy are handled.

Mrs. Rider is a very interesting and forcible speaker and the message which she brought was very instructive to all the women who attended. She was introduced by Mrs. George B. Reed, president of the Woman's club.

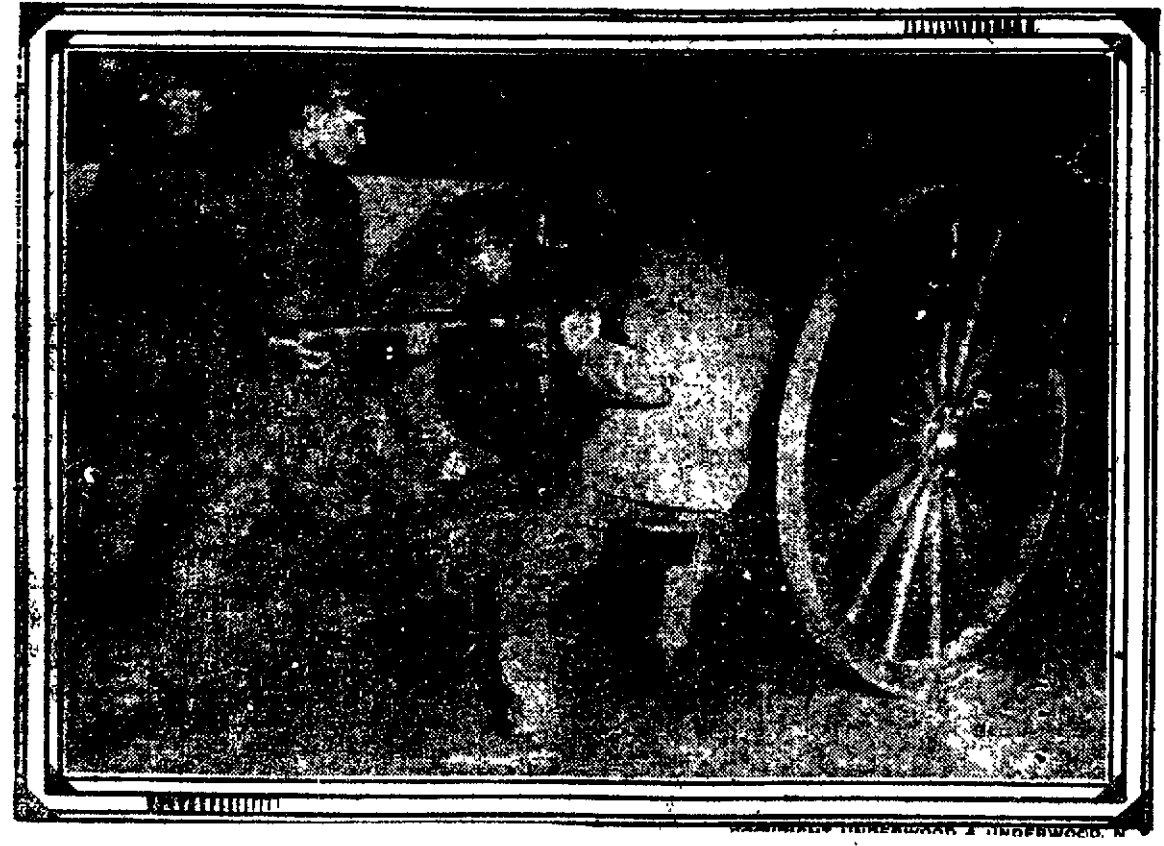

In part Mrs. Rider said "It is the duty and privilege of every housewife to visit frequently the factories, bakeries, shops and other supply stations which furnish the food for our table; with the purpose in mind of seeing that they are buying wholesome and pure foods."

The speaker laid particular stress upon the fact that there should be more organization and cooperation among the housewives of a community, with the purpose of getting quality and not quantity for their money, which method proves the cheaper in the end. The comparison was given between the days of our great-grandmothers, when her kitchen was the work shop, bakery and supply store for the family table, and that of our own day.

It has been only recently that the Pennsylvania legislature has passed measures prohibiting the handling of meats by prospective buyers, and made it necessary that the shops shall be clean and sanitary. So far there are no laws which compel the bakeries to wrap their produce in papers in order to protect it from impurities, but many bakers realizing that this is the more sanitary method, have done this. Continuing, Mrs. Rider said, "It is to the advantage of the American family to safeguard themselves from the contraction of diseases which may occur through the careless handling of food stuffs, and in order to do this, it is necessary to carefully inspect the shops or stores in which they buy their goods so they might know under what conditions their goods are kept in store."

It is a trite custom with the women of the United States to complain against the "High Cost of Living," while the main fault lies with them in the manner in which they manage their homes. As an example of this she said "through the courtesy of the business man, means have been provided for the deliverance of any merchandise which has been brought at their place of business, regardless of the size or cost of the purchase. In order to do this, an increased expenditure is placed upon the merchants who in turn increase the price of their goods. The only method of eliminating this expense is to buy in larger quantities, which will necessitate fewer deliveries, thereby requiring less help to carry on their business, and the result will be the reduction in the price of goods."

In order to impress more firmly her two main points namely: the inspection of food stuffs and the reduction of the cost of living, Mrs. Rider gave many vivid illustrations of deplorable incidents which had come to her attention in Albany, where she has been greatly instrumental in the foundation of a large and active

Battery "E" of the 2nd Field Artillery of the N. G. N. Y. aroused the enthusiasm of the thousands who thronged Madison Square Garden with its Three-Inch Field Artillery Gun Drill; the photographer "getting" the gun squad in the very act of ramming home the shell, preparatory to firing at some dummy targets, picturesquely arranged as little far-away houses on the mountain tops. They brought them all down, even though screens were placed in front of the guns so that those aiming at them, had to figure out the range by mathematics.

SERBIA FIGHT LIKE DEMONS UNTIL THEY HEAR HURRAH

Serbia Will Be The Land of Great Events Soon

(United Press Correspondence.)
(By a Former American Correspondent Now in Mackensen's Army.)

Belgrade, Serbia, Oct. 15. (By Mail to Berlin and New York, Oct. 21.)—A hot week I have had. I have been on the firing line all the time and haven't had a scratch. Many of my companions have fallen. The Serbians are making strong resistance and it is terrible to have to charge across an open field with machine gun fire from both sides. The Serbians fight like demons until they hear our hurrah and then they run!

During the night of the sixth and seventh of October we forced passage across the river Save, east of Belgrade. Great losses. The following days we drove the Serbians out of the hills. Now we are before a great mountain, the name of which I must ignore. Here we expect a gigantic battle.

I have lost many comrades. It is heart breaking to hear them cry for help. When one is on the firing line and hears the bullets whistle overhead, when one is on patrol duty at night, one learns what war means.

What would you think, how would you feel, if you were ordered to cross an open space under heavy machine gun fire from the right flank and comrades fall dead before your eyes, while many fell wounded behind you and you reached cover in safety?

I was with some comrades on outpost duty. An American shell exploded over our heads and seven out of eight men were wounded. How would you feel, I felt like some Almighty hand had protected me.

Every day we are under heavy shell fire. The Serbians seem to have plenty of ammunition.

Serbia will be the land of great events. France and England are sending a great number of men. I expect big battles, as big as we have just had in France and Belgium, where the losses must have been tremendous.

SECOND WAR CONFERENCE HELD AT PARIS TODAY

Paris, Dec. 7. (By United Press)—A second conference of the allies war council with representatives from all the entente nations present was held at the war office today.

Housewives' league of which she is now president.

In closing Mrs. Rider said, "There is an individual responsibility on each woman as a housekeeper, under the changing conditions of modern life, to acquire a more practical knowledge of the conditions under which the food for our tables and other commodities, which we buy, are prepared and marketed and the most practical method of doing this is the formation of a Housewives' league in Clearfield."

After Mrs. Rider's address Mrs. George Reed, president of the Woman's club undertook the formation of the "Housewife's League" in Clearfield. Mrs. Frank Reed was appointed president and Mrs. Webb Shillingford, secretary and treasurer. The committees to be appointed later. All of the seventy some members present were enthusiastic over the prospect of a league the main object of which is to interest women in intelligent buying and to improve sanitary conditions.

VATICAN BECOMES CLEARING HOUSE FOR PEACE IDEAS

His Holiness Expressed Hopes In Allocution At Sacred Consistory

Suggested That All Warring Nations Exchange Views—Suggestions are Already Bearing Fruit.

Rome, Dec. 7. (By United Press)—That Pope Benedict hopes to make the vatican a clearing house for peace ideas through which the war soon may be ended, was the conclusion drawn here today from the allocution delivered by his holiness at the opening of the sacred consistory.

The Pope pointed the way to a possible peace agreement by suggesting an exchange of views of all nations at war. His method at arriving at peace, he said, had been tried and found satisfactory in similar circumstances. No medium through which these peace ideas might be transmitted was mentioned by the Pope, but the general interpretation today was that Pope Benedict planned to make the vatican such a medium and to employ the whole organization of the church in an effort to bring the warring powers into agreement.

Pope Benedict's suggestions already have borne fruit. Indeed before the cardinals gathered in conclave yesterday peace talk is understood to have passed between Cardinal Hartman of Cologne and Cardinals of the allied countries. With the papal sanction it is believed there will be more informal conversations during the week. When the prelates return to their homes each will be in a position to convey to his government the peace views of the others.

It is expected that nearly one hundred exponents of the cause will be present at the meetings today. A delegation of twenty arrived this morning from DuBois. These delegates represent the Anti-saloon league, the Woman's Christian temperance union and other similar organizations.

Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 7. (By United Press)—The lives of 21 persons were endangered today when a bomb planted by black hands exploded wrecking the home of Antonio Zitale in the Italian district. The explosion was so terrific that it tore away the whole front of the building and part of one side. In the last month Zitale has received three black hand letters demanding sums ranging up to $2,000. Although none were injured due to the fact that the bedrooms were in the rear, all were shrouded with broken glass and plaster.

Reasons For Asking Recall of Boy and Von Papen Will Not Be Given Publicly or Privately

ACTION INTERPRETED 'VERY UNFRIENDLY'

PRESIDENT WILSON WILL PROBABLY BE RENOMINATED IN '16

1916 Campaign Launched with Meeting of Democratic National Committee

Movement to Make F. B. Lynch Chairman to Succeed W. F. McCormack of New York.

(United Press Correspondence.)
Washington, Dec. 7.—The 1916 presidential campaign was launched here today with the Democratic National Committee selecting a place and time for the Democratic national convention. The Republican committee meets here a week from today to do the same. The Democratic committee meets favor June.

President Wilson's re-nomination was not questioned by the Democratic chiefs. Other features of the campaign, including renomination of Vice-President Marshall, were much discussed, informally. Democratic leaders, warhorses and politicians, the usual entourage of the national committee's annual meeting and the committees from cities seeking the convention, were here as usual.

President Wilson received the committee in a body at the white house. His address was regarded as the Democratic keynote for the forthcoming contest. That the president had no preference regarding the time or place for holding the convention was officially announced.

The white house reception preceded the joint session of the senate and the house to deliver his annual message to congress. There was much verbal speculation regarding the alleged movement to oust William F. McCormack, of New York, as chairman. Friends of Fred B. Lynch, of Minnesota, were said to be active in trying to have him succeed McCormack. Party leaders insisted the rumors were without foundation. Among the cities bidding for the convention were Chicago, St. Louis, Dallas, San Francisco and Omaha. Lengthy arguments and pyrotechnics were scheduled.

Called to order at 11 o'clock at the New Willard hotel by Chairman McCormack, the morning session was largely routine.

There were eight vacancies on the committee. In two of these there were contests, from Oregon and Kentucky. Urey Woodson and Gen. W. B. Haldeman were the contestants for Kentucky's seat and Will R. King and H. M. Easterly for Oregon's. Both contests presented novel tangles. Woodson was chosen by the Kentucky state committee. At last summer's state convention Gen. Haldeman was named national committeeman. A similar family quarrel was the Oregon contest. King was selected by the Oregon state committee and in last year's primary election Easterly was chosen by the Democratic voters.

Democratic precedent provides full four year terms for each committee-man. The national committee was presented with the problem of over-throwing choices of state committees, according to established precedent by recognizing the choice of a party convention and the risk and loss in a primary contest. Full authority and discretion was vested in the committee, to decide the contests.

Other new members seated today were: Vincent Miles, of Little Rock, Ark., to succeed W. H. Kavanaugh, former president of the Southern Base Ball League, deceased; John T. Barnett, of Denver, Colo., succeeding Thomas J. McCue, deceased; W. W. Marsh, of Waterloo, Ia., succeeding Martin J. Wade, appointed a federal judge; Charles E. Johnson, of Waterville, Me., succeeding E. L. Jones, resigned; Representative Correll, Ill., of Carthage, Tenn., succeeding R. E. Cheney, of Juneau, Alaska, succeeded by A. J. Daly, deceased.

Washington, Dec. 7. (By United Press)—Secretary Lansing in decision to refuse to Germany the government's reasons for requesting recall of attaches Boy-ed and Von Papen has the expressed feeling of President Wilson. This is known authoritatively today. It was announced Ambassador Bernstorff had arranged to see Secretary Lansing at 10:30 o'clock. In the department the feeling was clear the serious diplomatic clash was imminent.

Washington, Dec. 7. (By United Press)—Formal refusal by the department of the German request for the reasons actuating the United States in asking for the recall of attaché Boy-ed and Von Papen was announced today. The action was interpreted as "very friendly."

The German government Ambassador Bernstorff at Washington to send American Ambassador Gerard at Berlin it was stated at the embassy, has requested that the reasons for the recall be given privately to the German government if the state department did not care to make public the reasons. Secretary Lansing in his reply refused any indication, it stated, either privately or publicly. The Berlin government must now make the first move.

SCHOOL BOARD AGAIN ELECTED ALBERT BIGLER PRESIDENT

Albert D. Bigler was again elected to the presidency of the school board at the reorganization of that body last night, while Dr. W. Scott Piper was elected secretary, succeeding A. G. Kramer, who retires.

The two new members of the board, Dr. Piper and E. V. Brown, were given the oath of office, following the presentation of their credentials.

George M. Rosser declined to serve as secretary following his election, stating that the office would demand too much of his time, and that he could be of better service to the board at this time by acting in other capacities.

retary to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Joseph R. Bann, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission. Thomas J. Paine was designated.

A spectacular feature of the hearing was the outrageously staged delegations of men and women. Showings were greeted by prominent representatives of both factions. Destruction in the 1914 platform on equal suffrage was advocated and opposed. Another discussion within the committee was threatened over proposed resolutions endorsing the administration's national defense program. Pro-Bryan committees were prepared to head off such action. The committee will, however, before adjournment adopt resolutions commending the Wilson administration and achievements of Democratic of many of the national committee members were represented today proxies, held by various parties, agencies and organizations.

FAME

Henry Green became nationally famous as a tight-rope walker. He took the opposite track and gained celebrity by spending barrels of money building ever-increasing monuments to himself. The elder Rockefeller summered through coming ages without fear of his being cast into the limbo of things forgotten, for his light of life aims the Midnight Sun of the Esquimo and needs its effulgence in the straw hut of the naked islander. More transient, perhaps, but none the less, is the fame of our Mr. Willard, who lambasted everything but the conceit out of a former citizen of the land of the free and the home of the brave, Mr. Jack Johnson. His naval wonders will not overshadow Dewey's and his large history as a great sea fighter. Whatever he does in the future, Khartoum will be the magic word which will bring adoring Britishers to a full appreciation of a great man. Ad infinitum.

As a mushroom millionaire, Henry Ford's fame has spread beyond the long coast line of North America to the sputtering and coughing, but very efficient emblems of it have found their way into almost every corner of the earth to spill grease and annoy the traffic cops. In the course of time, had he been content to give her a chance, Destiny would have worked out a flattering place for Henry Ford, for she has been exceeding kind to the man in a short fifteen years.

But no. Henry got himself all charged up with carbonates and spilled the beans for Destiny. Posterity will remember him chiefly as a very rich man who went about getting famous by making what the British no doubt would call "a bally ass" of himself.

A SURPRISING PROTEST

A mother looking for a juvenile story in a book store recently overheard to say with evident pride that her son of tender years wanted "killing on every page." While it may not be advisable to encourage in the young a prodigious thirst for gore as this would imply, there is good reason to question the soundness of a recent protest against the timehonored tale of Little Red Riding Hood. The city of Savannah is reported as the scene of a determined movement to abolish the old story from the bookshelves for its little folks. The protest is said to be against the "cannibalistic qualities" of the tale, but we remember aright, it was not the grandmother but the wolf that ate the little girl and the grandmother was made a meal of also, so the charge of "cannibalism" falls to the ground, the wolf merely obeying the normal instincts allotted to it by nature. It is not necessary to state that the cannibal, whether human or animal, eats the flesh of its own kind.

Normal children are not harmed when they shiver with fright over tales of dread and horror. Their developing faculty of the imagination is desirably stimulated by stories of the marvelous and even of the impossible. It is the age of interest in the startling and wonderful. Tales of desperate adventure, however absurd from the viewpoint of the adult, are better mental food for them than tales of young practical jokers who torment their elders, or of those pious, self-conscious and conceited little boys and girls who make it their business to look after the eternal salvation of their parents and adult neighbors. Good stories with a wholesome moral have an important place, but they should be real stories with inherent interest aside from their teaching.

Today's Geographic Study of The Great European War Zone

The Persian Highway to Tabriz and Tiflis, constructed by Russian capital and Russian engineers, is now rendering back full value to the companies of the Mesopotamian for Russia has moved into Persia along this way, in order that her southeastern flank shall be doubly safeguarded, and Tabriz not far from the Russian border, the first large station on the highway, has become the base of Russian operations," begins a statement given out today by the National Geographic Society.

Tabriz is a city whose age and birth-place are unknown; for, like Moscow, it was found in the bulwarks of the Dark Ages, a thing of some maturity but of uncertain antecedents. It is the commercial center of Azerbaijan, and it is the most important window of Persia toward the west. One tradition ascribes its founding to Zebaidah, the wife of Harun al-Rashid, the Caliph of the Arabian Nights. This date is, probably, much too late a one, as those who know Tabriz count a thousand years but a fraction of the city's life. "It is a monstrous expanse of flat-roof, single-story houses, strewn haphazardly over the plain. The buildings are dull in appearance, and constructions of clay and mud plaster, the outer walls windowless and almost unadorned. Unpainted, heavy, wooden doors, studded with nails, form the entrance ways; and within the houses face upon their exclusive brick and plaster courts. In the distance a fringe of mountains, here and there rising in majestic cones, relieve the tedium of the dull-colored, heavy featured city.

"As in the earliest times, so today walls surround Tabriz, without which gardens, vineyards and orchards thrive. This region has long been famous for its fruits and vegetables, though they are not grown in abundance. Within the city's walls; there is a mysterious labyrinth of streets, narrow, winding passages, side alleys and blind pathways. The streets, in most cases are unpaved, and the snow and the slush of winter, and the dust of summer, are allowed to collect and freely remain upon them. In some cases, cobblestones have been laid, but, mostly, this pavement serves only to add to the misery of the way. People make their way about the city at night carrying huge cylindrical lanterns made of thin metal. The municipality of Tabriz has not taken up street lighting.

"There is one interesting architectural monument in this northern Asian city, and that is the Ark of God, which dominates the city. It is a massive structure, built of red brick artistically set, and its battlements rise more than 100 feet in height.

SOUTHERN SUNDAY SCHOOL CONFERENCE

Ashville, N. C., Dec. 7.—With delegates from many southern states, the annual meeting of the officers and missionaries of the American Sunday School Union for the southern district assembled here today and will continue in session until the end of the week. Representatives of the union are in attendance from Virginia, Tennessee, West Virginia, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Maryland, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi and the District of Columbia. The union is an interdenominational character. Its work consists in the organization of Sunday day schools in destitute communities, the promotion of evangelistic services in rural sections, and the circulation of moral and religious literature.

"This is, at least, a good, beginning."

ELLA FLAGG YOUNG TO RETIRE FROM SUPERINTENDENCY

Has Been Superintendent of Chicago Public Schools for Six Years

Chicago, Dec. 7.—Ella Flagg Young, for six years superintendent of the public schools of Chicago, will retire from that position tomorrow, when the regular school election will be held. In announcing that she would not seek re-appointment, Mrs. Young issued a statement blaming "persistent discussion of the superintendency of schools in the daily newspapers" for her determination to quit.

The appointment of Mrs. Young to the superintendency of the Chicago schools attracted wide attention, largely because of the fact that she was the first woman to be named for such a position in any of the large American cities. Prior to her appointment Mrs. Young had been actively engaged in teaching for upwards of fifty years. She was born in Buffalo seventy years ago. Her position as superintendent has carried with it a salary of $10,000 a year. During the remainder of her life she will receive an annual pension of $400 a year from the teachers' pension fund.

Chicago, Dec. 7.—(By United Press.)—Big business men here today from all parts of the country will confer on a tariff program representing their views. Wholesale changes in the tariff will be asked, it is said. The conference was under the auspices of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association.

Prof. Taylor Recites Interesting and Comical Monologue

At a mass meeting of the high school students held yesterday afternoon in the Assembly hall, the date that the High school play, "Half Back Sandy" is to be presented was formally announced, and tickets given out to the students, for sale. In order to arouse more enthusiasm over the play, each member of the cast was called upon to make a short talk to the students. Each member presented a different way, but very practical way, for the students to advertise this play and for the students to sell the tickets.

Prof. Taylor, who is coaching the play, gave a very interesting monologue of part of the first act of "Rip Van Winkle." The act was very comical, and kept the students in a state of hilarity for more than a half hour.

FOREST FIRES IN COUNTY AMOUNT TO $22,000 IN 1915

Fifty Seven Forest Fires Covering Nearly 15,000 Acres Burned In Year

Only 25 of 60,000 Acres of State Lands Burn—Nearly $1,500 Spent by State in Fighting Forest Fires.

Forest fire statistics have just been compiled by the Pennsylvania Department of Forestry for Clearfield County for the year 1915. They show that 57 fires burned within the county during the year, covering 25 acres of state land and 14,882 acres of privately owned land. The total damage done is estimated at $22,000, of which $2,000 is for lumber and other manufactured material. During 1915 the department spent in this county $1,488.75 in fighting forest fires, in addition to the salaries of their regular field force of foresters and rangers.

The causes of the fires are given as follows: railroads, 10; fishermen, 8; cattle herders, 2; lightning, 2; unknown, 35. The fires set by fishermen did damage amounting to $7,500. The fact that definite causes can not be given for 35 of the fires leads to the conclusion that most of them were due to carelessness or incendiarism. It is significant to note that only 25 acres of state land were burned over, since the state's total holdings in Clearfield County are about 60,000 acres. These figures are sufficient proof of the fact that forest fires can be controlled.

If a building in the county valued at $22,000 were destroyed by fire the occurrence would be commented on for several years; but forest fires, which destroy the materials of which buildings are made, occur every year and cause only a ripple of interest. Public sentiment in the county needs awakening.

Forty-five of the fires occurred during the month of April; there were no fires of any size. The largest fire covered 1,500 acres each in Sandy and Goshen Townships.

Under the act passed by the last session of the legislature the department has established a bureau of forest protection. This bureau will bend its efforts especially toward working up preventive measures and applying them to the forest fire situation, and in this connection will work in close co-operation with the District Forester at Clearfield, the department's field force of foresters and rangers, and with the fire wardens, who are being better organized and equipped for their work.

If on a map of the state the counties having no forest fires were shown in white, and those having fires in shades of black in proportion to number of fires and amount of damage, Clearfield County would be a spot of solid black. By informing the public of the dangers of carelessness with fire in the woods, by close co-operation with individuals and organizations interested in conservation, and by use of the most modern patrolling and fighting methods, the new bureau hopes to put Clearfield County on the map in pure white in several years, as it should be.

MAN-DUCK APPLIES FOR JOB IN U. S. MARINE CORPS

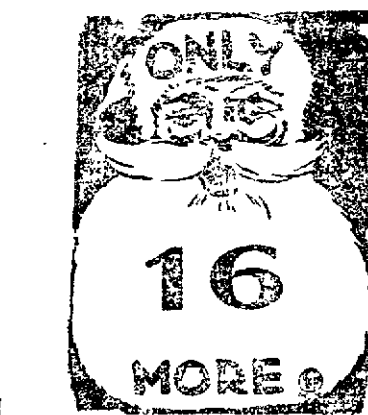

Being Rejected He Decides to Apply For Position as Policeman in Venice

Syracuse, Dec. 7.—Because a thin membranous filament connecting his toes made him web-footed, Frank Leque, Houtsville, L. I., thought he would make a splendid recruit for that semi-aquatic organization, the United States Marine corps, and was keenly disappointed when Sergeant George B. McGee, in charge of the local recruiting station, rejected him for that very reason. Now Leque believes that if Uncle Sam can't use a man-duck he still has a mission in life, and is contemplating applying for a position as traffic "cop" in the city of unfixed leaks—Venice.

Sergeant McGee of the Marines was loath to reject Leque for what he was pleased to term "duckitis," and he had momentary visions of the Long Island recruit being trained actually to walk on the water and so, in a bid to hurdle him over his swimming combbers from one vessel to another to deliver his "Don't give up the ship, boys" messages from the admiral.

But perfect feet are absolutely essential to Marines, and since the corps is usually filled up to maximum strength with exceptionally well-developed men, the web-footed one was told that he couldn't do. Now nothing remains for him to do except to join the Venetian traffic corps, or, as another rejected applicant who had "acquired water" in the same way, to become a ferryman, or, as yet another, to become a gondolier, and you could enter the Patagonian navy.

BUYING DAYS from NOW UNTIL CHRISTMAS

Do Your Christmas Shopping Early

BY J. A. COLEMAN.

The above slogan in the hands of an astute business man, changed the whole practice of Christmas shopping and stimulated holiday business as nothing else could have done. This man, with the nerve of a Barnum and the judgement of a Wanamaker, grabbed the thought from the public mind and put it into big Black Type where "He who runs may read"—in the newspaper! He backed a popular conviction with his coin and advertised the universal belief that it would be better for everyone concerned if the inevitable Christmas purchases were made at once while stocks were fresh and new and the choice was wide and ample.

The result not only paid the advertiser as it always does—but the whole country profited beside.

This slogan has since slipped into practical use in every corner of commercial America. Excepting perhaps its fellow slogan, "Safety First," which reduced the accident death rate enormously, it has done more good in the world than any business phrase ever coined. It has been the means of discontinuing the time honored practice among large metropolitan department and specialty stores of keeping open in the evening a week or two preceding Christmas Eve. It has enabled manufacturers to prepare their goods and fill orders far enough in advance to insure clear store rooms long before the Yuletide candles were lighted. It prevented the disappointment of millions of Christmas shoppers who were wont in times past to wait for the more attractive novelties which turned up at the last moment. And not the least important, it saved the heartaches of neglected ones who leant upon the broken reed of mere man's thoughtlessness.

That phrase, "Do Your Christmas Shopping Early," was instantly taken up and flashed before the eyes of the world through the medium of its newspaper. Just as every other worth while thing is told this nation of readers by the ever present, constant, reliable, all-knowing morning, evening, weekly or Sunday newspaper. Nothing the world does is done without ITS knowledge, nothing you want the world to know can be made known without its aid. Almost any national manufacturer will tell you that most of his fame and profit were the product of newspaper advertising. No newspaper advertiser who kept it up wisely ever lost money.

The newspaper pays the advertiser. The latter merely invests in business publicity. The cost of advertising is like a phantom Zeppelin—it never lights anywhere. It is a bugaboo made of thin air and a yellow streak. The common supposition that advertising expense is levied upon the consumer is likewise a fallacy. The fact of the matter is that the non-advertiser pays for it out of the business he loses to competitors who do advertise.

Advertising doubles output, halves overhead, divides selling cost and, by making two customers buy where ONLY ONE BOUGHT BEFORE, it creates a hundred per cent. increase in profit—out of which any business man can afford to pay for his own advertising.

Don't Be a Calamity Howler.

By BREEN.

If business is a bit poor don't cry that the country is going to the bowwows. Things will come out all right. When business life is at a low ebb newspaper advertising will help sustain it. When the financial and business depression was at its height a Pacific coast merchant spent $100,000 in a newspaper ad. campaign. The results more than justified his optimism.

The Wall street maxim is, "Buy when everybody is selling; sell when everybody is buying." If one wants to buy or sell anything he consults the newspapers.

President Appeals To Congress For A Bigger Army & Navy

MORE TAXATION TO MAKE UP DEFICIT

Washington, Dec. 7. (By United Press)—Preparedness by the whole western hemisphere. A moral partnership of all Americans—a co-operation of their national aims, national policies, and national economies—this was the paramount conception of President Wilson's annual message to congress. It was primarily a preparedness message. Members of the senate and house knew it would ask enormous sums for national defense, but the President merged this gigantic project into an infinitely greater plan for Pan-Americanism. He gave a new definition of the Monroe Doctrine. It was:

"The states of America are in hostile rivalry, but co-operating friends and their growing sense of community of interests alike in matters political and in matters economical is likely to give them a new significance as factors in international affairs and in the political history of the world. It presents them as in a very deep and true sense and unit in world affairs, spiritual partners, standing together in common thinking together, with common sympathies and common purposes. The currents of the world's progress are in spirit and purpose cannot be disappointed by their peaceful destiny. This is Pan-Americanism. It has none of the spirit of empire in it. It is the affectionate understanding of the spirit of long independence, liberty and mutual service."

Washington, Dec. 7. (Special to The Progress)—The National Defense Review, with purchases, Philippine and Porto Rican independence, the proposed laws to punish those who plot against the peace and safety of the United States, ship purchases, and a survey of our transportation facilities as a preliminary to the enactment of further legislation affecting them, are the subjects dealt with in the President's message to congress today.

Preparedness easily overshadowed all else, and the chief executive devoted the major portion of his message to the urgent need of increases in both army and navy establishments, and the organization of a reserve army of half-million. His recommendations include an increase in the army of 52 companies of coast artillery, and four aero squadrons. In addition to this the President recommends the commissioning of 750 additional officers for extra service.

The naval program to be presented to the present congress contemplates the construction within the next five years of 10 battleships, 6 battle cruisers, 10 scout cruisers, 50 destroyers, 15 fast submarines, 85 coast submarines, four gunboats, one hospital ship, two ammunition ships, two fuel ships, and one repair ship. Increase in the personnel of 11,500 men is also asked.

The nation's finance comes in for discussion under the head of preparedness, the President taking the ground that the bulk of the deficit to be met in the next two years will be caused by the army and navy programs. He recommends that the present "war" tax be retained and that additional revenue be secured by levying a per cent. tax on gasoline on autos, a tax of fifty cents per horse power on automobiles and internal combustion engines, a stamp tax on bank checks, a tax of twenty-five cents per ton on pig iron and fifty cents per ton on fabricated iron and steel. These sources of revenue, with a lowering of the present limits of exemption on the income tax and the figure at which the surtax begins and gradually increasing the surtax itself, he expects will take care of the anticipated deficit of upwards of two hundred millions.

In urging the immediate passage of laws empowering the federal government to punish "citizens of the United States" born under our laws but welcomed under our germination laws to the army and opportunity of American who have poured the poison of a trade against this country which is probably more than any public utterance he ever made.

"Such creatures of passion, disloyalty and anarchy must be crushed."

MRS. S. S. RIDER GIVES INSTRUCTIVE ADDRESS MONDAY

Subject "The Duties and Privileges of the Twentieth Century Housewife"

Speaker Introduced by Mrs. G. B. Reed Club Urged to Form Housewives' League in Clearfield.

Yesterday afternoon at a special meeting of the Woman's club held in the club house on Market street, Mrs. S. S. Rider, president of the Housewives' league of Albany, and formerly of Clearfield, delivered a very practical and concise address on the Duties and Privileges of the Twentieth Century housewife, the purpose of which was to interest the women in the management of their homes economically and the method of reducing the high cost of living and also in the manner in which the food stuffs which they buy are handled.

Mrs. Rider is a very interesting and forcible speaker and the message which she brought was very instructive to all the women who attended. She was introduced by Mrs. George B. Reed, president of the Woman's club.

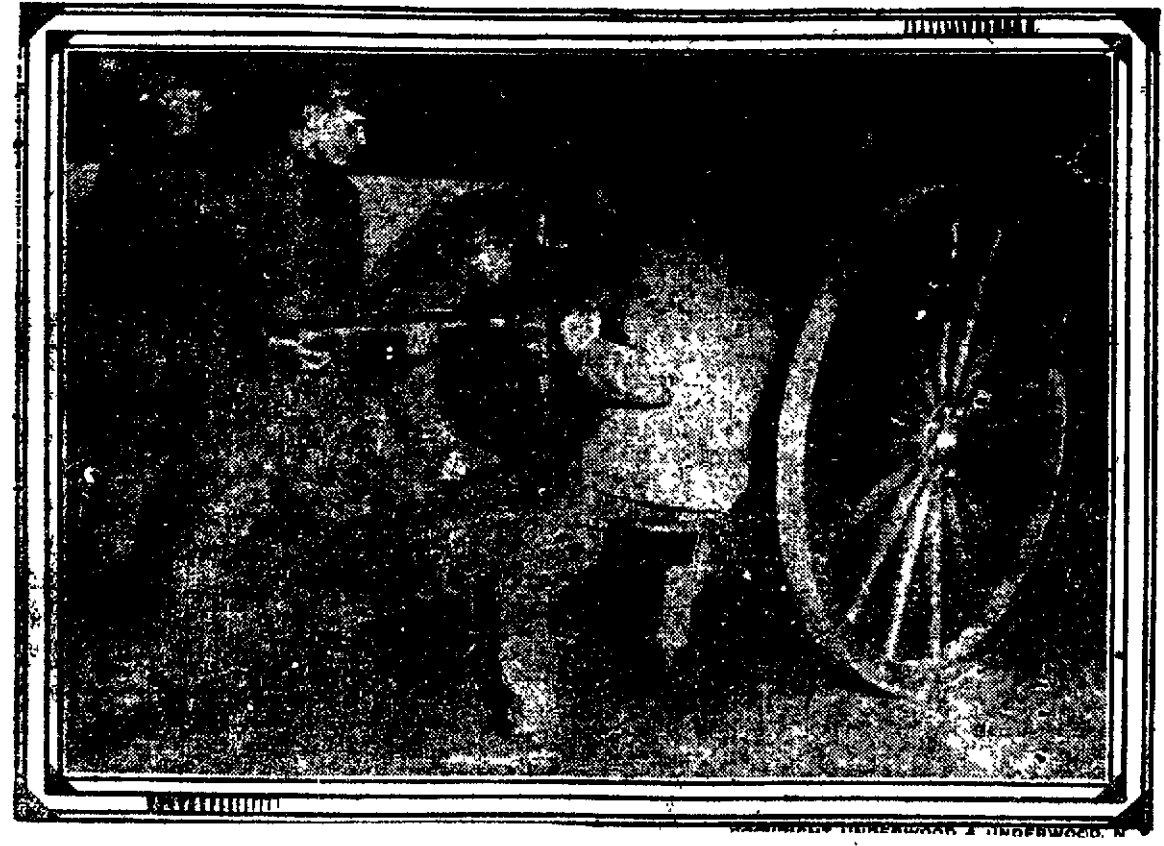

In part Mrs. Rider said "It is the duty and privilege of every housewife to visit frequently the factories, bakeries, shops and other supply stations which furnish the food for our table; with the purpose in mind of seeing that they are buying wholesome and pure foods."

The speaker laid particular stress upon the fact that there should be more organization and cooperation among the housewives of a community, with the purpose of getting quality and not quantity for their money, which method proves the cheaper in the end. The comparison was given between the days of our great-grandmothers, when her kitchen was the work shop, bakery and supply store for the family table, and that of our own day.

It has been only recently that the Pennsylvania legislature has passed measures prohibiting the handling of meats by prospective buyers, and made it necessary that the shops shall be clean and sanitary. So far there are no laws which compel the bakeries to wrap their produce in papers in order to protect it from impurities, but many bakers realizing that this is the more sanitary method, have done this. Continuing, Mrs. Rider said, "It is to the advantage of the American family to safeguard themselves from the contraction of diseases which may occur through the careless handling of food stuffs, and in order to do this, it is necessary to carefully inspect the shops or stores in which they buy their goods so they might know under what conditions their goods are kept in store."

It is a trite custom with the women of the United States to complain against the "High Cost of Living," while the main fault lies with them in the manner in which they manage their homes. As an example of this she said "through the courtesy of the business man, means have been provided for the deliverance of any merchandise which has been brought at their place of business, regardless of the size or cost of the purchase. In order to do this, an increased expenditure is placed upon the merchants who in turn increase the price of their goods. The only method of eliminating this expense is to buy in larger quantities, which will necessitate fewer deliveries, thereby requiring less help to carry on their business, and the result will be the reduction in the price of goods."

In order to impress more firmly her two main points namely; the inspection of food stuffs and the reduction of the cost of living, Mrs. Rider gave many vivid illustrations of deplorable incidents which had come to her attention in Albany, where she has been greatly instrumental in the foundation of a large and active

"WE NEED MORE OF 'EM." CRY 10,000 AT ARMY TOURNEY AS THEY WATCH STIRRING FEATURES OF ARTILLERY GUN DRILL.

Battery "E" of the 2nd Field Artillery of the N. G. N. Y. aroused the enthusiasm of the thousands who thronged Madison Square Garden with its Three-Inch Field Artillery Gun Drill; the photographer "getting" the gun squad in the very act of ramming home the shell, preparatory to firing at some dummy targets, picturesquely arranged as little far-away houses on the mountain tops. They brought them all down, even though screens were placed in front of the guns so that those aiming at them, had to figure out the range by mathematics.

SERBIA FIGHT LIKE DEMONS UNTIL THEY HEAR HURRAH

Serbia Will be The Land of Great Events Soon

(By a Former American Correspondent Now in Mackensen's Army.)

Belgrade, Serbia, Oct. 15. (By Mail to Berlin and New York, Oct. 21.)—A hot week I have had. I have been on the firing line all the time and haven't had a scratch. Many of my companions have fallen. The Serbians are making strong resistance and it is terrible to have to charge across an open field with machine gun fire from both sides. The Serbians fight like demons until they hear our hurrah and then they run!

During the night of the sixth and seventh of October we forced passage across the river Save, east of Belgrade. Great losses. The following days we drove the Serbians out of the hills. Now we are before a great mountain, the name of which I must ignore. Here we expect a gigantic battle.

I have lost many comrades. It is heart breaking to hear them cry for help. When one is on the firing line and hears the bullets whistle overhead, when one is on patrol duty at night, one learns what war means.

What would you think, how would you feel, if you were ordered to cross an open space under heavy machine gun fire from the right flank and comrades fall dead before your eyes, while many fell wounded behind you and you reached cover in safety?

I was with some comrades on outpost duty. An American shell exploded over our heads and seven out of eight men were wounded. How would you feel. I felt like some Almighty hand had protected me.

Every day we are under heavy shell fire. The Serbians seem to have plenty of ammunition.

Serbia will be the land of great events. France and England are sending a great number of men. I expect big battles, as big as we have just had in France and Belgium, where the losses must have been tremendous.

SECOND WAR CONFERENCE HELD AT PARIS TODAY

Paris, Dec. 7. (By United Press)—A second conference of the allies war council with representatives from all the entente nations present was held at the war office today.

Housewives' league of which she is now president.

In closing Mrs. Rider said, "There is an individual responsibility on each woman as a housekeeper, under the changing conditions of modern life, to acquire a more practical knowledge of the conditions under which the food for our tables and other commodities, which we buy, are prepared and marketed and the most practical method of doing this is the formation of a Housewives' league in Clearfield."

After Mrs. Rider's address Mrs. George Reed, president of the Woman's club undertook the formation of the "Housewife's League" in Clearfield. Mrs. Frank Reed was appointed president and Mrs. Webb Shillingford, secretary and treasurer. The committees to be appointed later. All of the seventy some members present were enthusiastic over the prospect of a league the main object of which is to interest women in intelligent buying and to improve sanitary conditions.

VATICAN BECOMES CLEARING HOUSE FOR PEACE IDEAS

His Holiness Expressed Hopes In Allocution At Sacred Consistory

Suggested That All Warring Nations Exchange Views—Suggestions are Already Bearing Fruit.

Rome, Dec. 7. (By United Press)—That Pope Benedict hopes to make the vatican a clearing house for peace ideas through which the war soon may be ended, was the conclusion drawn here today from the allocution delivered by his holiness at the opening of the sacred consistory.

The Pope pointed the way to a possible peace agreement by suggesting an exchange of views of all nations at war. His method at arriving at peace, he said, had been tried and found satisfactory in similar circumstances. No medium through which these peace ideas might be transmitted was mentioned by the Pope, but the general interpretation today was that Pope Benedict planned to make the vatican such a medium and to employ the whole organization of the church in an effort to bring the warring powers into agreement.

Pope Benedict's suggestions already have borne fruit. Indeed before the cardinals gathered in conclave yesterday peace talk is understood to have passed between Cardinal Hartman of Cologne and Cardinals of the allied countries. With the papal sanction it is believed there will be more informal conversations during the week. When the prelates return to their homes each will be in a position to convey to his government the peace views of the others.

TEMPERANCE FORCES OF COUNTY MEET TODAY

One Hundred Exponents of Cause Present at Meetings

The temperance forces of Clearfield county met today in the Y. M. C. A. building on Second street, for the purpose of formulating their plan of action for license court next year, and also for a permanent organization for definite work. The meeting began this morning, at which session, Dr. E. J. Moore, of Philadelphia, president of the state Anti-Saloon league made an address.

This afternoon an organization, similar to the No-license league of Jefferson county, was formed. The Clearfield county Anti-Saloon is back of the movement and have interested all other temperance organizations in the movement.

It is expected that nearly one hundred exponents of the cause will be present at the meetings today. A delegation of twenty arrived this morning from DuBois. These delegates represent the Anti-saloon league, the Woman's Christian temperance union and other similar organizations.

E. E. Smith, of the Clearfield Talking Machine Company attended to business in Clearfield today.

PRESIDENT WILSON WILL PROBABLY BE RENOMINATED IN '16

1916 Campaign Launched with Meeting of Democratic National Committee

Movement to Make F. B. Lynch Chairman to Succeed W. F. McCoombs of New York.

(United Press Correspondence.)
Washington, Dec. 7.—The 1916 presidential campaign was launched here today with the Democratic National Committee selecting a place and time for the Democratic national convention. The Republican committee meets here a week from today to do the same. The Democratic committee meets favor June.

President Wilson's re-nomination was not questioned by the Democratic chiefs. Other features of the campaign, including renomination of Vice-President Marshall, were much discussed, informally.

Democratic leaders, warhorses and politicians, the usual entourage of the national committee's annual meeting and the committees from cities seeking the convention, were here as usual.

President Wilson received the committee in a body at the white house. His address was regarded as the Democratic keynote for the forthcoming contest. That the president had no preference regarding the time or place for holding the convention was officially announced.

The white house reception preceded the joint session of the senate and the house to deliver his annual message to congress. There was much verbal speculation regarding the alleged movement to oust William F. McCoombs, of New York, as chairman. Friends of Fred B. Lynch, of Minnesota, were said to be active in trying to have him succeed McCoombs. Party leaders insisted the rumors were without foundation. Among the cities bidding for the convention were Chicago, St. Louis, Dallas, San Francisco and Omaha. Lengthy arguments and pyrotechnics were scheduled.

Called to order at 11 o'clock at the New Willard hotel by Chairman McCoombs, the morning session was largely routine.

There were eight vacancies on the committee. In two of these there were contests, from Oregon and Kentucky. Urey Woodson and Gen. W. B. Haldeman were the contestants for Kentucky's seat and Will R. King and H. M. Easterly for Oregon's. Both contests presented novel tangles. Woodson was chosen by the Kentucky state committee. At last summer's state convention Gen. Haldeman was named national committeeman. A similar family quarrel was the Oregon contest. King was selected by the Oregon state committee and in last year's primary election Easterly was chosen by the Democratic voters.

Democratic precedent provides full four year terms for each committee-man. The national committee was presented with the problem of over-throwing choices of state committees, according to established precedent, by recognizing the choice of a party convention and the risk and fil in a primary contest. Full authority and discretion was vested in the committee, to decide the contests.

Other new members seated today were: Vincent Miles, of Little Rock, Ark., to succeed W. H. Kavanaugh, former president of the Southern Base Ball League, deceased; John T. Barnett, of Denver, Colo., succeeding Thomas J. McCue, deceased; W. W. Marsh, of Waterloo, Ia., succeeding Martin J. Wade, appointed a federal judge; Charles E. Johnson, of Waterville, Me., succeeding E. L. Jones, deceased; Representative Correll Hull, of Courthouse, Tenn., succeeding R. E. Cheney, of Juneau, Alaska, succeeded by A. J. Daly, deceased.

Washington, Dec. 7. (By United Press)—Secretary Lansing in decision to refuse to Germany the government's reasons for requesting recall of attaches Boy-ed and Von Papen has the expressed feeling of President Wilson. This is known authoritatively today. It was announced Ambassador Bernstorff had arranged to see Secretary Lansing at 10:30 o'clock. In the cabinet the feeling was clear the serious diplomatic clash was imminent.

Washington, Dec. 7. (By United Press)—Formal refusal by the department of the German request for the reasons actuating the United States in asking for the recall of attaché Boy-ed and Von Papen was announced today. The action was interpreted as "very friendly."

The German government Ambassador Bernstorff at Washington to send American Ambassador Gerard at Berlin it was stated at the embassy, has requested that the reasons for the recall be given privately to the German government if the state department did not care to make public the reasons. Secretary Lansing in his reply refused any indication, it stated, either privately or publicly. The Berlin government must now make the first move.

SERBIANS RETREAT

Athens, Dec. 7. (By United Press)—Salonica dispatches today estimated that 120,000 Serbian troops have retreated across the Albanian frontier. Scattered forces are fighting in Montenegro and a few Serbians remain in the extreme southwestern corner of the country. Arrival of fresh Anglo-French contingents to the allied front was reported today.

SCHOOL BOARD AGAIN ELECTED ALBERT BIGLER PRESIDENT

Albert D. Bigler was again elected to the presidency of the school board at the reorganization of that body last night, while Dr. W. Scott Piper was elected secretary, succeeding A. G. Kramer, who retires.

The two new members of the board, Dr. Piper and E. V. Brown, were given the oath of office, following the presentation of their credentials.

George M. Rosser declined to serve as secretary following his election, stating that the office would demand too much of his time, and that he could be of better service to the board at this time by acting in other capacities.

THREE CASES OF SCARLET FEVER REPORTED IN BOROUGH

From a recent report of the health officer, there is at present three cases of scarlet fever, two of diphtheria and nine of chicken pox. The last case to be reported was that of a daughter of L. L. Rupert on Bigler Avenue, which was reported this morning.

The health officer wishes to warn the people of Clearfield to take precautions against these diseases, and when the first symptoms of any of the three break out to see a doctor, thus preventing the spreading of the disease.

retary to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Joseph R. Bann, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission. Thomas J. Paine was designated.

A spectacular feature of the meeting was the outrageously staged delegations of men and women. Delegations were greeted prominent representatives of both factions. Declaration in the 1916 platform on equal suffrage was advocated and opposed.

Another discussion within the committee was threatened over proposed resolutions endorsing the administration's national defense program.

Pro-Bryan committees were prepared to head off such action. The committee will, however, before adjournment adopt resolutions commending the Wilson administration and achievements of Democratic of 1916.

Many of the national committee members were represented today proxies, held by various delegates, agents and representatives.

FAME

Henry Green became nationally famous as a tight-rope walker. He took the opposite track and gained celebrity by spending barrels of money building ever-increasing monuments to himself. The elder Rockefeller summered through coming ages without fear of his being cast into the limbo of things forgotten, for his light of life aims the Midnight Sun of the Esquimo and needs its effulgence in the straw hut of the naked islander. More transient, perhaps, but none the less, is the fame of our Mr. Willard, who lambasted everything but the conceit out of a former citizen of the land of the free and the home of the brave, Mr. Jack Johnson. His naval wonders will not overshadow Dewey's and his large history as a great sea fighter. Whatever he does in the future, Khartoum will be the magic word which will bring adoring Britishers to a full appreciation of a great man. Ad infinitum.

As a mushroom millionaire, Henry Ford's fame has spread beyond the long coast line of North America to the sputtering and coughing, but very efficient emblems of it have found their way into almost every corner of the earth to spill grease and annoy the traffic cops. In the course of time, had he been content to give her a chance, Destiny would have worked out a flattering place for Henry Ford, for she has been exceeding kind to the man in a short fifteen years.

But no. Henry got himself all charged up with carbonates and spilled the beans for Destiny. Posterity will remember him chiefly as a very rich man who went about getting famous by making what the British no doubt would call "a bally ass" of himself.

A SURPRISING PROTEST

A mother looking for a juvenile story in a book store recently overheard to say with evident pride that her son of tender years wanted "killing on every page." While it may not be advisable to encourage in the young a prodigious thirst for gore as this would imply, there is good reason to question the soundness of a recent protest against the timehonored tale of Little Red Riding Hood. The city of Savannah is reported as the scene of a determined movement to abolish the old story from the bookshelves for its little folks. The protest is said to be against the "cannibalistic qualities" of the tale, but we remember aright, it was not the grandmother but the wolf that ate the little girl and the grandmother was made a meal of also, so the charge of "cannibalism" falls to the ground, the wolf merely obeying the normal instincts allotted to it by nature. It is not necessary to state that the cannibal, whether human or animal, eats the flesh of its own kind.

Normal children are not harmed when they shiver with fright over tales of dread and horror. Their developing faculty of the imagination is desirably stimulated by stories of the marvelous and even of the impossible. It is the age of interest in the startling and wonderful. Tales of desperate adventure, however absurd from the viewpoint of the adult, are better mental food for them than tales of young practical jokers who torment their elders, or of those pious, self-conscious and conceited little boys and girls who make it their business to look after the eternal salvation of their parents and adult neighbors. Good stories with a wholesome moral have an important place, but they should be real stories with inherent interest aside from their teaching.

Today's Geographic Study of The Great European War Zone

"The Persian Highway to Tabriz, constructed by Russian capital and Russian engineers, is now rendering back full value to the conquerors of the Mesopotamian front. It has moved into Persia along this way, in order that her southern flank shall be doubly safeguarded, and Tabriz not far from the Russian border, the first large station on the highway, has become the base of Russian operations," begins a statement given out today by the National Geographic Society.

"Tabriz is a city whose age and birth-place are unknown; for, like Moscow, it was found in the bulwarks of the Dark Ages, a thing of some maturity then but of uncertain antecedents. It is the commercial center of Azerbaijan, and it is the most important window of Persia toward the west. One tradition ascribes its founding to Zebaidah, the wife of Harun al-Rashid, the Caliph of the Arabian Nights. This date is, probably, much too late a one, as those who know Tabriz count a thousand years but a fraction of the city's life. "It is a monstrous expanse of flat-roof, single-story houses, strewn haphazardly over the plain. The buildings are dull in appearance, and constructions of clay and mud plaster, the outer walls windowless and almost unadorned. Unpainted, heavy, wooden doors, studded with nails, form the entrance ways; and within the houses face upon their exclusive brick and plaster courts. In the distance a fringe of mountains, here and there rising in majestic cones, relieve the tedium of the dull-colored, heavy featured city.

"As in the earliest times, so today walls surround Tabriz, without which gardens, vineyards and orchards thrive. This region has long been famous for its fruits and vegetables, though they are not grown in abundance. Within the city's walls; there is a mysterious labyrinth of streets, narrow, winding passages, side alleys and blind pathways. The streets, in most cases are unpaved, and the snow and the slush of winter, and the dust of summer, are allowed to collect and freely remain upon them. In some cases, cobblestones have been laid, but, mostly, this pavement serves only to add to the misery of the way. People make their way about the city at night carrying huge cylindrical lanterns made of thin metal. The municipality of Tabriz has not taken up street lighting.

"There is one interesting architectural monument in this northern Asian city, and that is the Ark of God, which dominates the city. It is a massive structure, built of red brick artistically set, and its battlements rise more than 100 feet in height.

height, while its walls are fully 20 feet in thickness. It is a solemn pile and a gloomy one. Fable has it that criminals were formerly executed by being thrown from its roof, and that one condemned woman escaped this horrible death, as her skirts and belted-like pantaloons acted as a parachute to break the fall.

"There are 318 Mosques in Tabriz, among them the wonderful blue Mosque, known as Masjid-i Babud. This wonderful specimen of Mohammedan architecture is falling to decay, though it still claims a full mead of admiration from the visiting westerner.

"The Bazaars of Tabriz are well-known in the East. They are of the characteristic oriental type, consisting of many miles of narrow arched ways, where light and air are excluded and smells and darkness religiously kept in. The shops are situated in alcoves along the ways, while crowds of purchasers of goods and on foot block all the passages. The Bazaars open shortly after sunrise and close at sunset.

"Tabriz is the commercial center of northwestern Persia, and much of its trade with Russia passes along this way. This is an important transit trade as Russia takes the bulk of Persia's export business, about 50 per cent. There is some household manufacture in Tabriz, including that of rugs and silver filigree. Americans have hardly begun to open up this market, though their business is welcomed by the purchaser. The following is the beginning of the 'Treaty of Friendship and Commerce' concluded between the United States and Persia in 1907:

"In the Name of God, the Clement and Merciful"

"The President of the United States of America and His Majesty, as exhibited as the planet Saturn, the Sovereign to whom the sun serves as a standard; whose splendor and magnificence are equal to that of the skies; the Sublime Sovereign and the Monarch whose armies are as numerous as the stars; whose greatness calls to mind that of Jemshid; whose magnificence equals that of Darius; the Heir of the Crown and Throne of the Azarans, the Sublime Emperor of all Persia, being equally and mutually desirous of establishing relations of friendship between the two governments which they wish to strengthen by a treaty of commerce and friendship and useful to the citizens and subjects of the two high contracting parties—have for this purpose named for their plenipotentiaries:

"This is, at least, a good, beginning."

ELLA FLAGG YOUNG TO RETIRE FROM SUPERINTENDENCY

Has Been Superintendent of Chicago Public Schools for Six Years

Chicago, Dec. 7.—Ella Flagg Young, for six years superintendent of the public schools of Chicago, will retire from that position tomorrow, when the regular school election will be held. In announcing that she would not seek re-appointment, Mrs. Young issued a statement blaming "persistent discussion of the superintendency of schools in the daily newspapers" for her determination to quit.

The appointment of Mrs. Young to the superintendency of the Chicago schools attracted wide attention, largely because of the fact that she was the first woman to be named for such a position in any of the large American cities. Prior to her appointment Mrs. Young had been actively engaged in teaching for upwards of fifty years. She was born in Buffalo seventy years ago. Her position as superintendent has carried with it a salary of $10,000 a year. During the remainder of her life she will receive an annual pension of $400 a year from the teachers' pension fund.

CHICAGO BUSINESS MEN TO CONFER ON TARIFF QUESTION

Wholesale Changes in Tariff Program Will be Asked

Chicago, Dec. 7.—(By United Press.)—Big business men here today from all parts of the country will confer on a tariff program representing their views. Wholesale changes in the tariff will be asked, it is said. The conference was under the auspices of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association.

"The tariff law is not producing sufficient revenue to meet the increasing expense of our national administration which undoubtedly will be added to it we increase our army and navy," said B. A. Eckhart, head of a milling company here. "When the war is over the United States will be the one cash market in the world. European manufacturers will try to unload here to make up for losses. The tariff should be re-constructed to protect the welfare of our workers, skilled and unskilled and solely with the object of protecting and stimulating the trade upon which general prosperity depends."

The following speakers are on the program: Geo. M. Gillette, Minneapolis, president Minnesota Employers' Association; B. A. Van Winkle, Hartford City, Ind., president Indian Association of Manufacturers and Commerce; Charles E. Looser, Elyria, Ohio, president Ohio Manufacturers' Association; J. E. Edgerton, Lebanon, Tenn., president Tennessee Manufacturers' Association; George R.
